Baskerville's Got Talent!

A big well done to Connor, one of our students based at Bournville College who played at the O2 Academy in Birmingham on Monday 20 April as part of his Music Technology course. He performed 4 tracks with his band "Charlie's Angels" one of which included him playing acoustically. Connor will be performing again on 2 June at an end-of-year concert for Bournville College. Don't miss the chance to see him in action - contact Rachel, our Bournville group tutor for tickets!

Baskerville Ducks

Two ducks have been regular residents at our School and every year they raise their ducklings in the nest they build on our rooftop. Judy, our Site Manager, feeds them every day in the courtyard outside the dining hall. We are hoping to give them a name in recognition of their loyalty to Baskerville School. Please send any suggestions to Jane!

Autism West Midlands is co-organising the first Autism Show in Birmingham. The show will be held on 19 and 20 June at the NEC Birmingham. It's packed with informative talks, interactive features and specialist products and services.

Talks include: 'How GP's should support people with autism and their carers and families', 'Transforming care for autism and learning disabilities', and 'Social and personal relationships for people on the autism spectrum'. There will also be chances for adults on the spectrum to talk about their life experiences and visitors can listen to a wealth of practical strategies and approaches. There will also be free one-to-one specialist clinics that offer visitors immediate access to experienced advisers, clinicians, therapists and solicitors on subjects such as how to get a diagnosis and what happens next, challenging behaviour, legal advice on special educational needs, supporting your child at school, welfare rights, wills and trusts, and support packages for young adults and legal entitlements post 16.

For more information / to book tickets, please contact hello@autismwestmidlands.org.uk or call 0121 450 582.
