Community Project

As part of Land-based Studies accreditation, students from our Bournville group are clearing the overgrown vegetation and restoring a community allotment in our neighbouring Moorpool area so that users can grow things on it - Students have been weeding, pruning, digging, clearing, building a path and steps. Local residents are very happy to see the improvement and the group were described as the best workers to have been involved in the project. Thanks goes to Jayne Millicheap for organising the project.
